What you need to check to know if TaliaLOP is an SME

Step 1 TaliaLOP has to be an "enterprise"

Article 1 to the Annex to the SME Definition

An enterprise is any entity engaged in an economic activity. Economic activity is selling products or providing services on the market at a given price. Newly established enterprises (start-up companies) or companies without economic activity (but expecting to enter soon into the market) may also qualify as SMEs. The legal form is not important: even self-employed, family firms, partnerships and associations or any other entity may be an enterprise.

Step 2 TaliaLOP has to meet the following conditions

Article 2 to the Annex to the SME Definition

More details: User Guide, page 10

- To employ fewer than 250 persons, and
- To have an annual turnover not exceeding EUR 50 million and/or
- To have an annual balance sheet not exceeding EUR 43 million.

Step 3 Do financial data of other entities have to be added to TaliaLOP's data?

Article 2 to the Annex to the SME Definition

More details: User Guide, page 10

For this purpose, it is important to establish if TaliaLOP is autonomous or not:

- Autonomous if it is totally independent or does not have any partners or linked entities.
- Not autonomous if it has relationships with other entities (partners or links). In this case, you need to provide the information listed in Step 2 for all of them.

I have read and understood the information above and I am ready to enter data for TaliaLOP

Companies with closed accounts but no turnover yet

Companies which already have closed accounts but need more time to enter into the market and generate turnover are considered as having a "lengthy time- to-market". In general, this may happen for companies operating in specific fields - such as biotechnology, nanotechnology or health-related/medical matters - where a lengthy period of time-to-market is justified.

This kind of companies is requested to insert:

- figures from the last closed accounts, and
- figures from the business plan, including the expected turnover, and
- the investments made in research and development.

These figures are requested to demonstrate that, in spite of lack of turnover, the enterprise is engaged in an economic activity.

Business plan

The business plan is a realistic bona fide declaration in which the entity indicates financial projections concerning the profit-and-loss account, balance sheet and forecasted staff headcount of the company. It also includes a narrative part describing the core activity of the company and its expected market position. These are the minimal requirements of the business plan. It is essential that the business plan covers the entire period (financial years) necessary for the entity to develop its business until it delivers a good or a service on a given market. In other words, it should cover all the periods necessary for the entity to generate turnover.
