
Dear colleagues,

The Centre for Development and Environment (CDE), University of Bern, is interested in joining a consortium under the call (Thematic Area B: Biodiversity), ideally as a work package lead.

They bring expertise in legal innovations for biodiversity governance, including:

- access to information, public participation, and justice in environmental decision-making
- rights of nature and innovative legal approaches to environmental justice
- legal and procedural innovations addressing lock-ins, power asymmetries, and capture in environmental multilateralism
- integration of Indigenous Peoples' and local communities' knowledge in institutional processes, including as regards chemical pollution
- strong technical expertise in pesticide governance and trade regulations

If you know someone who may need their expertise to complete their consortium for this call, they may contact irene.musselli@unibe.ch

Best wishes,

Marco
